REV. HIRAM BINGHAM AND
THE NEW MORNING STAR

The Missionary Herald contains the following letter from Rev. Hiram Bingham, preceded by a brief editorial account of his career:

(Dr. Bingham and his wife sailed from Boston as missionaries to Micronesia on the first Morning Star in 1856, and ten years later he, as captain, took out the second Morning Star to Micronesia and has remained there and in Honolulu in missionary service for the Gilbert Islanders until the present time.) On coming to the States a few weeks since, primarily to put through the press a commentary for the Gilbert Islanders, he found that a new Morning Star was purchased, and now ready to sail. He greatly desired to sail on her that he might once more visit the island groups with which he was so familiar, but medical advice was strongly against his making the attempt. In his great delight over the new vessel and the blessed service which may be anticipated from it among the islands in Micronesia, he has been moved to address the following letter to young people, having special reference to the thousands who have not as yet taken shares in the vessel. He has been in some good sense the children's missionary from his long identification with their missionary vessels, and his words will be welcomed not only by youths, but by many not young in years, though young in spirit.)

My dear young friends:
Will you permit an old missionary, now nearly seventy-three years of age, to thank those of you who have aided in the purchase of the Morning Star, No. 5, and to suggest to you who have not yet done so some reasons why you would do well to give such aid? You know that it is expected that this missionary vessel will remain for a long period in the lonely Micronesian waters, that she may be able to make two tours a year, at least, through the Caroline, Marshall, and Gilbert Islands, instead of one, as in the case of former Stars. Having been built in 1900, it is natural that to put her in first-class order it has been found necessary to make extensive repairs on a portion of the furnace. To provide her with accommodations for a large number of students who will need to take passage on her to and from the training schools on Kusaie and Ruk, it has been necessary to do a large amount of ship carpenter's work. Something has been done to make life on board more endurable under the blazing sun of the equator. I have sailed in Micronesian seas on three of the Morning Stars, and can appreciate all that is done to make life on the ocean more comfortable.

I congratulate my associates in Micronesia in having had provided for them such a fine steamer as is Morning Star, No. 5, for helping win for Christ a portion of this world for which he died. I feel sure that their hearts, so lately despondent because of the very limited means at their control for visiting the various and numerous outstations under their care in these later years, will bound with joy when they, three months hence, come to see with their own eyes, what I have so recently been permitted to see, a small steamship capable of steaming ten knots an hour. Morning Star, No. 4, could steam only five.

Will not those of you who have not yet taken shares add to the joy of these missionaries by coming promptly forward in aid of the blessed work by taking as many shares of stock in this new vessel as you can consistently? True it is that most of the 75,000 inhabitants of Micronesia have repeatedly heard the story of redeeming love, that multitudes of them are now daily singing his praise, while millions in other lands have not yet even heard of the name of Jesus. These latter no doubt have the greater claim upon you. But, think you, would it be right, would it be what Christ would have you to do to leave these infant churches, not yet fully established in the faith, for grievous wolves to come among and scatter the sheep? Would it be right to leave them to the care of the Church of Rome which church would be glad to see every one of your missionaries take their departure from Micronesia as soon as possible, and has already sent forty-one priests and nuns into the Gilbert Islands?

It is the mature judgment of your missionaries in the field that if their labors are to result in permanent good to those tribes they must have such means provided for superintending the work as will be furnished in the present vessel, and that their services will be greatly needed for years to come. They earnestly look to you for material aid in building up the kingdom of God in those distant isles of the sea. How can you better aid them than by liberally equipping and maintaining this beautiful Morning Star now going forth from your midst on her errands of love?

I have sailed thousands and thousands of miles in Morning Star, No. 1, No. 2, and No. 3, have for many years helped to prepare No. 4 for her long voyages while she was in port at Honolulu, and it is my privilege to be here in Boston to bid Goodspeed to No. 5 as she spreads her insignificant sails to the breeze, but feels the tremor of that propeller driven by man's faithful but powerful helper, steam. Once when my dear wife and myself were about to sail, forty-seven and one-half years ago, from Boston, in Morning Star, No. 1, Rev. Dr. Thompson, for many years chairman of the Prudential Committee, prayed that her sails might be filled with the breath of prayers from thousands of her stockholders. My prayer is that the breath of prayer from the thousands of stockholders of the present vessel, a steamship, may help to fan the flames that shall develop the steam that shall send her speeding through the waters of the Atlantic, the Mediterranean, the Red Sea, past Mt. Sinai, the Indian Ocean, past the spicy breezes which "blow soft o'er Ceylon's isle," rushing through the Straits of Malacca, past the great and benighted island of Mindanao, through the Western and Equatorial Pacific for thousands of miles to Ponape and Kusaie, where her future inter-island voyages will be arranged. Would to God, if it were best, I might again be a favored messenger of the gospel of Christ to revisit those dear Gilbert Islanders for whom God has permitted me and my dear wife to labor for nearly forty-seven years. She who was my companion on so many voyages has very lately gone to the better land, where there is no more sea, whither soon I hope to go. But let me thank the good Lord for this additional and blessed opportunity of using my pen to help stir up Christ's little ones to do what they can to provide and maintain a little ship that shall wait on Him till the fullness of the sea shall be gathered in.

Your friend and fellow-servant,
HIRAM BINGHAM.THE PROMOTION COMMITTEE
AND HONOLULU'S OUTLOOK

Editor Advertiser: More than a year has elapsed since the Promotion Committee commenced its labors. Its objects are understood to have been to attract to the territory desirable classes of population, both transient and permanent. Up to the present time those results have not been achieved. Tourists have been reduced to a minimum—more so than for many years; and so far from attracting permanent settlers, they are going away in crowds by nearly every steamer. It is therefore pertinent to inquire the reason.

The present writer expressly disclaims any desire to harshly criticize or to wound the feelings of those who have labored to promote travel, but the public interest demands an impartial inquiry.

When seed is sown there are various causes which may prevent a realization of the expected crop. The seed may be of poor quality; it may be sown in uncongenial soil; its germination may be restrained by blight or other foreign influences; the natural period of germination may be longer than the sower anticipated.

Advertising bears a strong analogy to the sowing of seed. The matter prepared, though it may be the outcome of high-class literary talent, may not be adapted to the purpose for which it was designed; the mediums of its dissemination may be unsuitable; there may have been some counteracting influence which the best of efforts were unable to overcome; or it may take longer than was supposed to bring about results.

Modern advertising has been developed almost to an exact science; it is a recognized profession; it has its expert exponents, just as law and medicine and other professions have theirs. Was the advertising on behalf of this territory laid out with the aid of an expert, or was the plan conceived entirely by men of little or no experience in this particular line? Literary acumen, business training, a logical and observant mind, are valuable adjuncts but these alone will not produce a specialist in the field of advertising or in any other.

If the proper expert advice has not been obtained, would it not be desirable to seek it? There are several advertising specialists of national reputation in the United States, whose advice may be had for a consideration. It is suggested to get the opinions of at least two of these, for comparison and future guidance.

The task of the Hawaii Promotion Committee is not a new one. Many other communities, notably Los Angeles, have planned similar campaigns, and have carried them out to a successful issue. Local conditions may differ, but general principles are the same; and past experience is more or less a guide for future action.

Reduced steamer fares are one factor in the case. It seems hardly reasonable that a steamer of 3,000 tons, such as the "Alameda," should charge the same fare as the "Korea" and "Siberia," which are of 12,000 tons and more modern in construction and appointments. It is only natural that the preference should be given to the latter boats. If the Oceanic Company were to make their rates $50 for the "Alameda" and $60 for their through steamers, with $90 and $100 respectively for the round trip ticket, the probability is that they would not only take business away from the other lines, but would create new business. As an example of what reduced fares will do, witness the last trip north of the "Aorangi." That vessel is not one of the most modern; but special rates were advertised in the Colonies for the St. Louis Fair, and a full passenger list was obtained.

Mr. Irwin is here now; could he not be induced to use his influence in this direction with the Oceanic Steamship Company? Mr. Irwin is believed to be a public spirited man; he has the means, business acumen, and force to make his influence felt in the quarter indicated. He has accumulated his wealth in these Islands, and with his large interests here, and with his natural desire to see Honolulu as prosperous as before the tourists deserted us, he is the one man in the community to single out for this particular purpose, that is the reduction of steamer fares to a point that will place us on an equal plane with other semitropical countries and communities, which by their reasonable passenger rates have diverted to themselves a large tourist traffic that we formerly enjoyed—a class of business that does so much to put money into general circulation and thereby improves trade conditions.

Yours truly,
CITIZEN.

WHAT A BLESSING

Many People Are Learning to Appreciate in Honolulu.

What a blessing it is.

Sought after by thousands.

Honolulu is finding it out.

Many a miserable man is happy now.

Nights of unrest, days of trouble.

Any itching skin disease means this.

Itching Piles mean it.

Eczema just as bad, and just as bad to cure.

But Doan's Ointment relieve at once, and cures all itching of the skin.

A blessing to a suffering public.

Here's proof to back our statement:

Mr. H. Ryall, of No. 11, Grosvenor St., South Yarra, a very old resident of Melbourne, Australia, states:

For some considerable time I have been a sufferer from that annoying complaint known as irritating piles.

At times the irritation was very annoying, especially at night, and in the warm weather. I applied some of Doan's Ointment, which I had obtained, and I am pleased to say that it gave me the desired relief from this annoying disease.

Doan's Ointment is splendid in all diseases of the skin: Eczema, piles, hives, insect bites, sores, chilblains, etc. It is perfectly safe and very effective. Very frequently two or three boxes have made a complete cure, of chronic cases that have not yielded to other remedies for years.

Doan Ointment is sold by all chemists and storekeepers at 50 cents per box, or will be mailed on receipt of price by the Hollister Drug Co., Ltd., agents for the Hawaiian Islands.
